ROBLOX announced the launch of an app called ROBLOX Studio in July 2009, which allows players to make 3D videogames using ROBLOX Soft, or Lua scripting. These games can be shared on the website and with friends via social networking and email, making the virtual world even more alive than ever before. The app is free, but users must pay for revenue sharing of their games. On January 30, 2014 ROBLOX released its first app exclusively for iOS devices called "ROBLOX Studio" which puts a lot of its features into a more user-friendly format that previously had to be accessed through two separate products.

It is important to know how hackers gain access to Roblox accounts because of its impact on society. Hackers love discovering new ways to hack into people's accounts and bypass security measures that have been set up by Roblox. In order for this problem to be solved, it is not just up to Roblox but also the users who play it as well. Roblox needs to be more active in providing information on this issue and what hack protection measures are available to its users. Roblox also should be alerting people when they are hacking or when their accounts have been hacked.

If you play "Robloxian life" long enough, you'll notice that the costs really add up. For every point someone wins, the game will cost the player between $3-$10 depending on how many points are needed to win a double prize. Although this is not completely true for all games, it does affect most games so players can expect to spend a lot of money just for some points or winning prizes.

Anthem: On June 15th, 2018, ROBLOX announced a new game called "Anthem". It was a FPS which was heavily criticized for violating many of the company's policies. The game eventually received negative reviews from users who claimed it was simply an unfinished product. The company also ended up making an apology on their website.
